N B—The unparalleled success of our Sewing Machines has induced several fraudulent imitations and from the daily numerous infringements of our patents—of which we own sixteen Suits for the infringement of our patents have recently been decided in our favor in the U S Circuit Courts in New York and New Jersey In these suits the principal defence was that the Seed to the Sun did not germinate by a yielding pressure, which in all Sewing Machines that had been fully tested The Wheeler & Wilson, and the Grover & Baker Sewing Machines as we allege each infringe three distinct patents owned by us. We have suits against them in several of the U S Courts which will soon be tried We hereby caution the public not to buy any infringing Machines as they can be compelled by law to stop using them and to pay costs and damages

The subscriber is now prepared to furnish
E. G. ROMEROY'S
PATENT COPPER-COATED IRON
SPIKES, BOLTS, DECK BOLTS.
COPPERED SHEET IRON,
With all kinds of FASTENINGS used for Ships, from the only manufacturers in the United States—C & J MARSHALL, Newport, Del.—superior in strength and at about ONE HALF the cost of Copper Fastenings

Samples sent to order, with certificates from A A Lawrence, Assayer to the State of Massachusetts also of Committee on Science and the Arts of the Franklin Institute, Philadelphia and of those who have used and are using the Fastening

[Copy of a Letter.]
BALTIMORE, Jan 8, 1856
Messrs C & J Marshall—Gentlemen At the request of your Agent in Baltimore, in regard to our opinion and experience of your copper coated spikes, we, without hesitation, say we believe them the best substitute for copper yet introduced, and better fastening for ships, inasmuch as you have the strength of iron with the preservative qualities of copper

We have used some of your Spikes in old vessels as a substitute for copper and have had occasion to draw them out a few afterwards, and found them with the coating as firm as when they were driven, and with no appearance of oxidation

Very respectfully yours,
(Signed) JOHN D. PARDY & BRO

Cheap & Convenient Building.
Door, Sash and Blind Factory.
A. DUNBAR

HAS been very successful in completing several contracts for Door Frames, Doors, Window Frames and Sashes, and Blinds for good dwelling houses and other buildings to be erected in this city, the coming season He has excellent workmen in his employ, and his superior stock, so that he is now able to supply to those about to build the best articles of Door Frames, Window Frames, Sashes, and Blinds, made to any dimensions and of superior quality either for a whole building or for a less quantity The trouble and expense of building is very much lessened by having these articles made separately, so that the carpenters have only to put them in their place in the structure

This business has now become so well systemized that only a small margin is left in knowing beforehand the cost of adwelling house, while the work is of a uniformly excellent quality

Any one interested can examine specimens of the work at the factory, near the Rose Place, or at the store of H S Jackson, on Exchange st., and at either place any article may be obtained or large quantities ordered.

Mr Dunbar is also prepared to furnish Window Blinds ready painted, and will hang them at the shortest notice

By long experience, and by determined perseverance, the subscriber is now enabled to suit his customers, both in quality and price, and so well organized in the business that no man should now think of building in the old and slow and imperfect methods

A Night in an Alpine Inn.

"Help! help!" he cried in such agonizing tones that I felt my heart leap painfully"

For a moment I almost determined to throw myself into the flood, but that would have been mere suicide, without helping him But my thoughts became calm in a few moments, and then I went to consider if there was not some means by which I could reach him. I walked further down, and soon found that the rock upon which he held was a jut from a narrow shelf which extended about parallel with the water to a distance of some forty feet down the stream If I could reach that shelf I could save him. I hurried down and found that I could reach the shelf by a narrow gorge, in which grew a lot of shrubbery, provided that the shrubbery was deep rooted enough to hold me. I took hold of some of the bushes which grew near the top, and found them firm With a quick prayer I threw off my coat and boots, and then let myself down. I found the shelf not more than two feet wide, and you may believe, that it was a dubious track, but I hurried on and reached the jutting rock in safety In a moment more I was flat on my breast, and then reached over after the boy I caught him by the collar of his jacket and told him to help himself all he could He made his last effort. I threw all my strength into that one lift, and drew him from his perilous situation I asked him if he could walk, and he said yes, so I arose and bade him follow me We reached the little gorge in safety, and made our way up the bank, and when we were once more on the faithful ground, the boy sank down upon his knees and clasped his hands. He was not over twelve or fourteen years of age, and dressed in a sort of hunting garb of chamois skin He had an intelligent look and his language was German

"Come," said I after he had blessed me a dozen times, "get up and I will help you back to the inn, for you must be weak and faint"

"No, no," he answered quickly "I must go the other way, and I must hurry too I ought not to have stopped to look over into the stream, and you see what came of doing it I looked at the water so long that I became dizzy I fell upon the rock that juts out there, and as I was going off I caught it with my hands I should not have been here alive now if you had not come as you did"

I told the boy I was thankful as he was He thanked me and blessed me again, then said he hoped he could pay me sometime, and then turned away I watched him till he was out of sight, and then turned back toward the inn I smoked another cigar chatted awhile with the ostler (the landlord being away somewhere) and then went up to my room I was shown into the same apartment that we visited It was well furnished and looked comfortable It likewise liked the roar of the mountain torrent directly under my window, and asked for another room but I was told that was the only one they had in readiness, so I had to put up with it

I always used to sleep with my pistols under my pillow, and of course I did so on this occasion I had faithful weapons—made on purpose for me in Manchester—double barreled and powerful They were a pair of my own invention, and one hammer operated upon both pans so that they were easier to carry than the ordinary weapon with double flint locks I fit my lamp burning with a low flame and having secured my door, went to bed The roar of the torrent soon became wild music to me, and I was not long in falling asleep

I must have slept not far from three hours, when I was awakened by feeling something on my shoulder I started up and made an instinctive motion toward my pistols

"—sh!" uttered some one close to my ear "Don be afraid You have saved my life, and now I have come to save yours"

My eyes were now fairly open, and by the dim light of my lamp I could see the boy whom I had rescued from the rock only a few hours before

"What is it?" I asked not a little startled

"You are to be murdered and robbed before morning" he replied, in low, quick tones.

"Murdered!" I repeated "What murdered here?"

"Yes—here. The brigands are about and they know you have money You are in danger! They mean to kill you and throw your body out of the window into the water and that would be the last of you!"

"But how do they know I have money?" I asked

"You told them so!"

"Me—told—"

"Yes You ate supper with the brigand chief!"

So the mystery was out, and I knew what a fool I had been to trust my secret with a stranger.

"But the landlord will—"

"He dares not do anything," interrupted the boy "Fear him not. We come here—a—the brigands come here when they please.

"Then you belong with them?" I remarked,

"I cannot help myself," he answered, "for I have no other home but with them"

You may imagine how peculiar my feelings must have been at that time. I could not take my horse, for one of the brigands, was in the stable I could not fly, for the yard was watched The boy informed me that there were four of the robbers at the inn, and that they would be at my room in an hour. He also acknowledged that he had been sent up to see if I was asleep, and if my door was locked I asked him if he could not help me

"I have done all I can I have told you all, and I should die instantly if that were known."

"But can you not get hold of their pistols, and extract the balls," I asked.

"They would leave powder," he answered, "for they make too much noise, and there are some of the girls in the house they wouldn't trust. The danger and club does their work. They mean the club for you,

FOOT-STOVE, LANTERN,
.....AND.....
NURSE-LAMP.

ALBERT NOYES having purchased the exclusive right for manufacturing and vending in Penobscot county, the above valuable invention, is now prepared to offer them to the public

As a FOOT STOVE, it answers an excellent purpose as it can be carried from room to room the greater part of the coldest winter without the least inconvenience or indispensable article in the traveling It is heated by an oil, alcohol or gas flame, the latter kind, the flame of which is protected from the wind, and will be found to be an very convenient, as a quart of water can be boiled in fifteen minutes, and a foot stove kept at the same length of time

As a LANTERN, it answers all the usual purposes, and is less liable to be blown out, or get broken, and can be used as a house lamp with equal advantage.

As a NURSE LAMP and in cases of sickness, it is of great advantage in keeping drinks or medicines warm, besides giving the light desired, and for cooking in small quantities For mailing tea, &c., it will be found very convenient, as a quart of water can be boiled in fifteen minutes, and a foot stove kept at the same length of time

In fact, the various purposes to which this neat apparatus can be put may be readily conjectured by every one. No further description is required, as no one can misunderstand its general utility To any any thing more respecting its adaptability to a hundred purposes would just be telling what our readers can advise at once for themselves

Germany—A Trip into the Country.

Soon after arriving in Germany, and taking up my temporary residence in Hamburg, I made a trip to the village of Hermannsburg in Hannover. This little place is in the vicinity of Celle, some fifty miles south of the free city of Lamburg, and about seven miles from the direct railroad connecting the latter place with the cities of Hannover and Braunswich (Brunswich.) It is, as it were, a place in the woods, so much so, that I was told it would be necessary for me to take a guide from the railroad station. A branch of the Weser, on which river stands the free city of Bremen, passes this place, and carries its lumber sluggishly along to a market.

Before leaving America I had read a short account which made me feel interested to see this place. It seems that here, in one of the most secluded and out-of-the-world places imaginable, in a rustic parish of people, who have lately established a Mission on the east coast of Africa, inland and northwest from Port Natal. To supply Missionaries, they have established and support a Mission School in their own village. And to carry their Missionaries and Colonists to Africa they have built and launched, here on the Elbe, a vessel of their own, and all from their own little resources. The first band has already gone out and taken its place among the Caffrarians. A second in a course of preparation, which requires three years, and is to go out in the summer of '57. Meantime the vessel carries out Colonists, a company of whom goes this following summer. Each company of Missionaries numbers twelve, and each individual is not only qualified to preach and teach, but is also master of a trade. The Colonists comprise all the working professions of life, that the Mission may be, so far as possible, a complete self sustaining establishment. And, again, the vessel, when not thus directly employed in the transportation of Missionaries or Colonists, is despatched under the direction of the Society's agent in Hamburg. At present she is on a voyage to Mexico. The proceeds are devoted to the purposes of the Mission. This, briefly, is a statement of the facts which render this little place a point of interest to the world without.

I took the ferry boat from Hamburg to cross the Elbe. The river at a point some miles above Hamburg, divides, and after enclosing a large island, the arms meet again at a little distance below the city. Both branches are navigable. The island is held in part by Hamburg, and in part by Hannover. Directly across from Hamburg, across the island and the two streams and a little higher up is the town of Harburg which is the terminus of the Hannoverian railroad. The distance directly across, is perhaps five miles. By ferry it is eight or nine.

The boat ran rapidly down, giving us a fine view of St Pauli, the western suburb of Hamburg. It belongs to Hamburg, and occupies the whole space between the gates of this city and of Altona in Holstein. As you pass down the river the lines of division are of course invisible, and Hamburg, St Pauli and Altona are to the eye, only one great city. In a few minutes we stopped at Altona to land and take passengers, and in a few minutes more we had turned the lower point of the island and were passing up on the other side.

Both the island and the Hannoverian coast on the right are very low, indeed the whole of that main shore line is protected by a high embankment, so that the boat passenger sees only the roofs of the houses which stand directly behind it. A little farther back is a modest bluff commencing near Harburg and running for some distance down the river. The buildings are mostly of the common kind found through Holstein and Hannover, and how much farther, I know not. The walls are one story, of brick, in a frame of wood. The roofs are high and pointed, and beautifully thatched, and quite often entirely green with moss. The ridge, instead of running the whole length of the trail's, is clipped at either end and a short end-roof runs down, meeting the end wall at perhaps half the distance between the side eaves and the ridge, and thus giving half-windows, on the end, for the second story.

I have since ascertained that this style of thick thatching, with rye straw, is more expensive than the covering of red earthen tiles. It is, however, much more beautiful, much warmer, and when well done, lasts over forty years.

About three quarters of an hour brought us to Harburg, of which place I will not stop to speak now, save to say that it is quite a port of entry for the kingdom of Hannover, and that the "Mozart Ship" of the Hermannsburg society was built and is registered here.

I took a third class ticket for the Uelzen station. The distance is between eleven and twelve German miles, of which fifteen make the equatorial degree and are therefore equal to sixty nine and a half of our miles. The cost of the third class fare is about seventy eight cents, or in Hannoverian currency, one thaler and two gute groschen. The third class cars are very much of the same grade as our second class. The doors are in the sides of the car, like all the European cars I have seen. The seats run in pairs facing each other, and are as long as the width of the car. There is a door on either side of the car, between every two seats, so if the car is full, half the passengers must ride both wards, which is also the case in the first and second classes. Most of the people, even of the better sort, ride in the third class, bearing the little tribulation of spitting on uncushioned oak for a season, with philosophic economy. As for the first class, there is a saying that "nobody rides there but Americans and fools." To him who travels not for bodily comfort, but for mental benefit, the third class is preferable, as throwing him into just the society where he ought to go if he would know the true condition of a country and its people. And if he is on a scrimp hat limited stepend, it becomes a matter of necessity; for here all that belongs to mere show or rank, to use a familiar phrase, "costs more than it comes to." The greatest annoyance is the smoking, which is so nearly universal that, instead of any request that people shall not smoke, there is quite generally, a card labelled "Für Nichtrauchen," i. e. "For those who do not smoke."

We were nearly three hours in reaching Uelzen, making less than twenty miles an hour. The country through which we passed is pretty much of the same general cast, low and damp, requiring careful drainage of the field, and so level that you can scarcely tell which way the water runs.

About an hour from Hamburg we pass, on our left, the little village that stands where Bardewick once stood, of which place I have already spoken in connection with Lubec, and which I hope ere long to visit. Not a building of the original stronghold is left, save the strange looking, two towered, hunched backed old church, which was here when History found it. A few minutes farther along, on the right, comes Lueneburg, a place of considerable importance, bearing in olden times the head of a Duchy.—The St Johannis church here is a beautiful structure, with a tower of great height and visible for many miles over the country. A limestone bluff rises abruptly just behind the town, and furnishes almost the only stone to be found in the vicinity.

In the buttery it took out the shelves and scattered the dishes, and escaped at the end door.

Homœopathy Simplified, or Domestic Practice made easy, By John A Talbot M. D., Boston: Seaborn, Carter & Bros. 1856.

To those who adopt the homœopathic system and practice of medicine, this volume will be found a valuable assistant as a family manual. The author says it is not designed to supercede the necessity of a physician's services, in cases where they are ordinarily required, but to restrict the family practice to its legitimate sphere, and to condense and render more available the greatly diffused information in former treatises on homeopathic medicines. The work contains a concise but comprehensive description of nearly all the ills that flesh is heir to, and prescribes the appropriate medicines and treatment. There is also a chapter upon accidents and poisons—a description of the proper mode of practising hydropathy or the water cure,—and a description of the materia medica of the homœopathic practice.

Edward Clifford, or Memories of Childhood. New York: Robert Carter & Brothers. 1856.

In this interesting narrative of the experience of youth, by one who has become a thoughtful man, and who attributes the spiritual and temporal blessings which he enjoys to the wise training of a firm but kind and in his youthful days, there is an excellent moral lesson conveyed to parents and other guardians of the rising generation. It impresses the necessity of uniting firm authority with a kind and gentle spirit and a ready sympathy—a lesson too seldom learned, and more seldom practiced.

The story is a pleasant and profitable one.

The Kansas Investigation.—We have given some specimens of the evidence taken by the Congressional Commission, as to the border ruffian outrages in Kansas. We should be glad to publish more of it, but have not room to do so.

After detailing some of the principal evidence, the Boston Chronicle has the following closing remarks:

"There is no chance to impeach the evidence that Kansas was invaded by Missourians who took possession of the polls, and denied the actual settlers the right to vote, and controlled the result. The evidence is sustained by a number of Missourians who gave their evidence before the commission, and who acknowledged that they took part in the incursion, and themselves voted illegally.

Such is the character of the evidence adduced before the Kansas commission. There is no rebutting testimony. Gen Whitfield and his pro-slavery friends have failed to produce a particle of evidence that the election was legally conducted, and nothing but the poll books tampered with by the Missourians and the false returns in the executive office in Kansas, show that he has any claim to a seat in Congress. The commission have prosecuted their work with patience and industry, and the contemptuous manner in which they have been treated by territorial officers and by the administration, their privileges infringed upon, and their investigations materially hindered, if not broken up, will open the eyes of honest and conscientious men to the desperate efforts which are being made to sustain the cause of the border ruffians, and to gain the good will of the slavery propagandists who shape the course and control the nominations of the Democratic party.

By the pro-slavery papers of Missouri, it appears sufficiently evident that Whitfield has no testimony to offer, so that the labors of the Investigating Committee in the absence of Gov. Reeder are brought to a close, and they will soon return to Washington.

Another thing is also nearly certain, that Sheriff Jones will escape examination as a witness. He had probably more than one reason for wishing to escape such an examination. It might have brought out the fact that the shooting of him was merely dramatic, shedding blood, if any, which was never in his veins.—The testimony that he was actually shot by any body, is very far from being conclusive. His reported groans were too loud to be real, and none of his friends around him ever acted as if he had really been shot. Such is the modern power of lying, by which it is hoped by Pierce's Cabinet to burn Lawrence, murder or drive out the free State men of Kansas, and make a majority of the people of the free States believe it was done by the fault of the Emigrant Aid Society, Robinson and Reeder."—Boston Chronicle.

Our Relations with Great Britain. New York, May 20. (Washington Tribune correspondence.) The Cabinet sat to-day until 4 o'clock, deliberating upon the answer of the British government. It will meet again to-morrow, which is an unusual proceeding. The character of the reply dictates the issue of any threatening consequences, except those necessarily resulting from a suspension of friendly intercourse between the two governments at peace, if the dismissal takes place. The paper is uncommonly adroit, and ably put. Much labor has been expended upon it. The British government now distinctly disavows having entertained any intention to violate our municipal laws, or our national sovereignty. It is understood in diplomatic circles that Mr Crampton will leave the country immediately after receiving his passports, and carry the Secretary and other members of the legation with him, not included in our dismissal, his object being to close the embassy entirely, and thus emphasize the suspension of intercourse.

(Herald's correspondence.) The Cabinet were in session a long time to-day. Clarendon's reply to Mason was one of the subjects before them. I am informed they came to no determination in Crampton's case. There are various matters in Clarendon's reply which are entirely new to our government, and places the difficulty in another shape altogether. It will be some days before the matter is disposed of.

It is stated in Blackwood's Magazine that there are nearly eleven thousand boats engaged in the Scottish Fisheries, and that they give employment to about forty thousand fishermen, besides occupying as coopers, gutters and laborers, nearly thirty thousand other persons. The amount of capital invested in the fisheries is about $2,730,000. The value of the herring fishery for 1855, is estimated at one million pounds sterling. The amount of cod and ling (a species of cod) taken in 1854 was 83,382 hundred weight.

The Spirit of the Slavery Propaganda

The new outrage on the Rev. Parker Butler, described by himself.

Lawrence, Wednesday, May 7, 1856.

One year ago I became to Kansas and bought a claim on Sugar Creek, Atchinson County.

On the 7th of August the Border Ruffians of the Territory of Atchison sent me down the Missouri River on a raft.

We parted upon a mutual pledge—I, that if my life was spared, I would come back to Atchison, and if I did come back, they would hang me.

Faithful to my promise, in November last I returned to Kansas with my family; visited Atchison; and one day, announced myself on my ranch, returned without molestation.

Kansas being sparsely settled, and having few meeting houses, it was determined that Mrs. Butler should live on our claims with her brother's wife, while I should return to Illinois and resume my labors as a preacher. I have been for a number of years in the employ of churches in the counties of Brown and Adams, Illinois, a majority of whose members were, I suppose, born and raised in Kentucky.

April 30th I returned in Kansas and crossed the Missouri at Atchison. I spoke to no one in town, save with two merchants of the place, with whom I had business transactions since my first arrival in the Territory. Having remained only a few minutes, I went to my buggy to resume my journey, when I was assaulted by Robert S. Kelly, Junior editor of The Squatter Sovereign, and others, was dragged into a grocery, and there surrounded by a company of South Carolinians, who are reported to have been sent out by a Southern Emigration-Aid Society.

In the last mob, I noticed only two were citizens of Atchison or engaged in the former mob.

It is reported that these emigrants from the Palmetto State do not seek out a claim and make for themselves a home, neither do they enter into any legitimate business. They very expressively describe themselves as having "come out to see Kansas through."

They yelled—"Kill him!" "Kill him!"—"Hang the d—d Abolitionist!"

One of their number buckled up to me and demanded:—

"Have you a revolver?"

I replied—"no."

He had decline me a pistol saying—"There, take that, and stand off ten steps and G—d d—n you, I will blow you through in an instant!"

I replied—"I have no use for your weapon."

I afterwards heard them congratulating themselves in reference to this—that they had been honorable with me. The fellow was furious, but his companions dissuaded him from shooting me, saying they were going to hang me.

If I can picture to myself the look of a Cuban bloodhound, just ready with open jaws to seize a panting slave in a Florida swamp, then I imagine we have a correct daguerreotype of the expression worn by these emigrant representatives of the manly sentiment, high-toned courage and magnanimous feelings of the South Carolina chivalry when first they scented—in their own imagination—the blood of a live "Abolitionist."

"Hang him!" they yelled, "hang the d—d Abolitionist!"

They pinioned my arms behind me, obtained a rope, but were interrupted by the entrance of a stranger—a gentleman from Missouri, since ascertained to be General Tut, a lawyer, of Buchanan County. He said

"My friends, hear me. I am an old man and it is right you should hear me. I was born in Virginia, and have lived many years in Missouri. I am a slave holder, and desire Kansas to be made a Slave State—if it can be done by honorable means. But you will destroy the cause you are seeking to build up—You have taken the man, who was peaceably passing through your streets and along the highway, doing no person any harm. We profess to be law and order men, and should be the last to commit violence. If this man has violated the law, let him be punished according to law; but for the sake of Missouri—for the sake of Kansas—for the sake of the Pro-Slavery cause, do not act in this way."

They dragged me into another grocery and appointed a moderator. Kelly told his story.

I rose to my feet, and calmly, and in respectful language, began to tell mine. I was repeatedly jerked to my seat, and so roughly handled that I was compelled to desist.

My friend from Missouri again earnestly besought them to set me at liberty.

Kelley turned short on him and said, "Do you belong to Kansas?"

He replied "No, but I expect to live here in Atchison next Fall, and in this matter the interests of Missouri and Kansas are identical."

Mr Lamb, a lawyer in Atchison, and Mr. Dickson, a merchant of the same place, both Pro Slavery men, also united with Gen Tut in pleading that I might be set at liberty.

While these gentlemen were thus speaking, I heard my keepers mutter—"D—n you, if you don't hush up, we'll tar and feather you."

When Kelly saw how matters stood, he came forward and said—"He did not take Butler to have him hanged, only tarred and feathered." Yet in the other grocery they had said to the mob that "they should do as they pleased!" He dared not take the responsibility of taking my life, but when these unfortunate men, whose one idea—ism on the subject of Slavery, and Southern rights has become insanity—when these irresponsible South Carolinians, sent out to be bull dogs and bloodhounds for Atchison and Stringfellow—when they could be used as tools to take my life, he was ready to do it.

Our gunpowder moderator cut the discussion short by saying, "It is moved that Butler be tarred and feathered, and receive thirty-nine lashes."

A majority said "Aye," though a number of voices said "No." The moderator said, "The affirmative has it."

I began to speculate how that sort of thing would work as far north as the latitude of Kansas. There was a good deal of whispering about the house. I saw dark, ominous and threatening looks in the crowd.

The moderator again came forward, and in an altered voice, said

"It is moved that the last part of the sentence, be rescinded."

It was rescinded.

I was given into the hands of my South Carolina overseers to be tarred and feathered.—They muttered and growled at the issue of the matter. "By ——," said they, "if we had known it would have come out in this way, we would have let ——— shoot Butler at the first. He would have done it quicker than a flash."

One little sharp visaged, dark-featured, black-eyed South Carolinian as smart as a cricket, who seemed to be the leader of the gang, was particularly displeased. "D—n you," said he, "if I came all the way from South Carolina and spent so much money to do things up in such milk-and-water style as this."

They stripped me naked to the waist, covered my body with tar, and then, for the want of feathers, applied cotton wool. Having appointed a Committee of three to certainly hang me the next time I should come to Atchison, they tossed my clothes into my buggy, put me therein, accompanied me to the outskirts of the town, and sent me naked out upon the prairie.

I adjusted my attire about me as best I could, and hastened to rejoin my wife and two little ones on the banks of the Stranger Creek. It was rather a ceremonial meeting after so long a parting. Still, we were very thankful that, under the blessing of a good Providence it had fared no worse with us all.

Mr Butler says he has never alluded to the subject of slavery in his preaching.)

Resolute Woman.—The house of Mrs. Louisa Atwill in Brookline, was entered by burglars on last Thursday night, who meant to sweep it clean of all valuables. A sister of Mrs. A. who was ill, and sleeping in a chamber in the rear of the house, was awakened by two men, one of whom waved a lantern over her with one hand, and in the other held a pistol, threatening to kill her if she started. She closed her eyes, and the robber touching her hand found it cold, and said to his companion that she was dead. One of the villains then went down stairs, to get the plate below and hand it out to a confederate, while the other ransacked the room, took two purses, from a bureau, with nearly $200 in them, a diamond ring worth $75, a gold watch, and next opening a closet took from that a trunk containing about $3000 worth of diamonds and jewelry, and very valuable papers, and prepared to go down stairs. When he had reached the door and opened it, the sick lady with almost superhuman resolution, sprang from her bed, rushed upon the burglar, and literally hurled him headlong down the stairs, by a push behind, with such force that he broke through the plaster at the landing. Thinking the robber dead, she then screamed, and brought out the man servant and Mrs. Atwill, declaring that a man lay dead at the foot of the stairs. On looking the robber was gone, but all the plunder, amounting to several thousands of dollars worth was left behind. The plate was found collected below ready to be carried away, the robbers having a wagon at the gate. We regret that this bold feat of the invalid lady has made her delirious. Few men or women would possess the decided courage for such a resolute act.—New Bedford Mercury.

Antiquarian Research.—Dr A. C Hamlin returned yesterday from several days' explorations about Monhegan and neighboring Islands, in search of traces of which have been said to exist there of settlement centuries ago, by Europeans, even before the discovery of the western world by Columbus, supposed to have been Northmen. We understand that Dr Hamlin's research has been fruitful of curious discoveries, which will be duly made public.—Journal.

Leather from Porpoise Skins.—At a recent industrial exhibition of one of the London societies, among the other novelties was some curried leather from the skin of the white porpoise. A report says "it seems to possess the essential requisites of toughness and softness, and has been considered superior to the skins of land animals, the price is the same as that of the best calfskin, but a sample pair of boots shown is stated to have worn out seven soles."

Ruffianism in the Senate—Brutal Assault on Mr Sumner.

WASHINGTON, May 22—2 P M

A brutal assault has just been made on Senator Sumner by Brooks of South Carolina. Mr Sumner was sitting in his place in the Senate, writing, after the adjournment, quite late, when Brooks came up to him, interchanged words, and then struck him on the head with a large cane. Sumner rose from his seat, covered and was quite unable to defend himself. Brooks repeated the blow a dozen or more times notwithstanding this. He was finally arrested by Mr Keitt, of South Carolina, who attempted to prevent interference by the friends of Mr Sumner. Mr Sumner is not dangerously injured, although he is now in a state of insensibility. The supposed cause of attack is the manner in which remarks of Mr Butler, who is an uncle of Mr Brooks.

LATER DESPATCH—MR SUMNER IN A CRITICAL CONDITION.

WASHINGTON, May 22—3 P M

In the attack was made there were probably 15 or 20 persons present, including Critchfield, Foster, Toombs, Fitzpatrick Murray of Tennessee, and others, members of Congress, together with Gov Gorman, several officers of the Senate, and some strangers. The attack was sudden and so unexpected, that Mr Sumner had no opportunity whatever to place himself in a defensive attitude. The first blow given him by Mr Brooks stunned him and the gutta percha stick, which was used by Brooks, was broken into many pieces by the assault terminated.

Messrs Crittenden, Toombs, Murray and others interfered as soon as they could, and thereby prevented further damage. The greatest excitement prevailed.

Mr Sumner sank perfectly unconscious to the floor, where he lay bloody and dreadfully mangled till he was raised by his friends.

Mr Sumner's physicians say that his wounds are the most severe flesh ones they ever saw. The gash in the head, and deep bruises on his face.

Mr Brooks was complained of by Wm Key Howard, an whose oath Justice Hollingshead issued a warrant for Brooks to give bail in the sum of $500 in default of which he was committed to prison.

WASHINGTON, May 22

SENATE.—A joint resolution allowing Dr Kane and the officers associated with him in the Arctic Expedition in the search for Sir John Franklin, to accept such tokens of acknowledgement from the British Government as may please to present, was passed by yeas 33, Nays 4. Those who voted in the affirmative were, Bigg, Iverson, Reid, and others.

A message was then read from the House announcing the death of Mr Miller of Missouri.

Geyer pronounced a eulogy upon him. Usual resolutions were then passed and the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.—Mr Miller announced the death of his colleague, Mr Miller of Missouri, on account of sickness had not taken his seat this session. He spoke in exalted terms of his public and private character.

Mr Humphrey pronounced a glowing and eloquent eulogy on the life and character of the deceased, who, he said was the companion of his childhood.

The usual resolutions were then passed and the House Adjourned.

From Kansas.

NEW YORK, May 22, 1856

A letter in the Daily Times from Lawrence, dated the 12th of May gives the following intelligence corroborative of telegraphic reports of later date.

"We are in receipt of our regular correspondence from Lawrence, Kansas to the 12th of May. Matters were then assuming a threatening and perilous aspect. Companies of armed men approaching Lecompton but no further attempts to arrest had been made. The citizens of Lawrence have appointed a new committee of safety which has had an interview with Col Sumner who told them he was ordered by the troops to protect them from assault but that he could only interfere in the matter at the request of Gov Shannon. The latter has refused to anote from the committee that Lawrence is no forde but a sheriff's posse approaching Lawrence, and that the people of that place will be compelled to obey the territorial laws. Mr Wise a citizen of Lawrence was then a prisoner by the Lecompton forces and had recently escaped by pretending to be one of them.

Our correspondent writes that the people of Lawrence have resolved to permit the United States Marshal to enter the city to make arrests, but only with a small posse. If he comes with a formidable hostile force he will be resisted.

Appeals have been sent to the President and to Congress asking their immediate interposition for relief.

The body of Mr Bishop was found in the Wakarusa River.

The British Minister.

New York, May 21.

(From the Washington correspondent of the Courier & Enquirer.) There will be further correspondence here with Mr. Crampton, on facts alleged in the Earl of Clarendon's despatch of May 8 The correspondence will be friendly and apologetic, and an amicable arrangement is certain. The correspondence between Clayton and Crampton continues without reconciliation or a prospect of any

(Herald correspondence.)—The Cabinet were in session again this morning, but nothing was accomplished in the Crampton case as the administration find it extremely difficult, since the receipt of Lord Clarendon's reply, it being so mild in its tone and temper, to take positive and decided action. It does not refuse, as has been stated, to recall Crampton, but discusses the question at considerable length,

(Boston Advertiser correspondence.) Fresh orders have been issued to the troops in Kansas to sustain the territorial laws at all hazards Intelligence of bloodshed is hourly expected. The President evinces considerable alarm lest he has kindled a conflagration which he cannot suppress

LET US REASON TOGETHER

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.
WHY ARE WE SICK?

IT has been the lot of the human race to be weighed down by disease and suffering. HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are specially adapted to the relief of the WEAK, the NERVOUS, the DELICATE, and the INFIRM, of all climes, ages, sexes and constitutions. Professor Holloway personally superintends the manufacture of his medicines in the United States, and offers them to a free and enlightened people, as the best remedy the world ever saw for the removal of disease.

These Pills Purify the Blood.

These famous Pills are expressly combined to operate on the stomach, the liver, the kidneys, the lungs, the skin, and the bowels, correcting any derangement in their functions, purifying the blood, the very fountain of life, and thus curing disease in all its forms.

Dyspepsia & Liver Complaint.

Nearly half the human race have taken these Pills. It has been proved in all parts of the world that nothing has been found equal to them in cases of disorders of the liver, dyspepsia, and stomach complaints generally. They soon give a healthy tone to these organs, however much deranged, and when all other means have failed.

General Debility. Ill Health.

Many of the most despotic Governments have opened their Custom Houses to the introduction of these Pills, that they may become the medicine of the masses. Learned Colleges admit that this medicine is the best remedy ever known for persons of delicate health, or where the system has been impaired, as its invigorating properties never fail to afford relief.

Female Complaints.

No Female, young or old, should be without this celebrated medicine. It corrects and regulates the monthly courses, at all periods, acting in many cases like a charm. It is also the best and safest medicine that can be given to children of all ages, and for any complaint—consequently no family should be without it.

Holloway's Pills are the best remedy known in the world for the following Diseases:

Asthma	Dropsy	Inward Weakness
Bowel Complaints	Debility	Lowness of Spirits
Coughs	Fever and Ague	Piles
Colds	Female Complaints	Stone and Gravel
Chest Diseases	Headaches	Secondary Symptoms
Costiveness	Indigestion	Venereal Affections
Dyspepsia	Influenza	Worms of all kinds
Diarrhoea	Inflammation

The Great European Cough Remedy.
Important to the Consumptive and the public generally. The celebrated
Universal Cough Mixture

IS a safe and effectual Remedy for Coughs of every description, whether of children or adults, of recent or long standing.

PREPARED ONLY BY
REV. WALTER CLARKE,
Sole Proprietor, Cornishville, Maine.

Within the last twelve months thousands of bottles of the Universal Cough Mixture have been sold in the State of Maine alone, and everywhere its extraordinary power in relieving and curing diseases of the Chest and Lungs, is gratefully acknowledged; and especially in cases of obstinate and long standing Coughs, it speedily allays the unpleasant sensation in the throat which excites coughing, it promotes free and easy expectoration, and by removing the exciting cause of the cough, it frequently enables the sufferers to enjoy natural and refreshing sleep, who for weeks had been deprived of that blessing.

Sold in trial bottles, 25 cents each; large bottles, each containing the quantity of four small ones, 75 cents each.

Extract of a letter from Daniel Adams, Esq., of Bowdoinham, Maine.
FEBRUARY 17th, 1853.
To Rev. Walter Clark. Dear Sir—The bottle of Cough Mixture which I bought of you at Topsham had the desired effect on my wife. She had been afflicted with a cough for two years—that bottle entirely removed it.

From Rev. Jesse Hoyt, Lewiston Falls.
Bro. CLARKE—Every bottle of the Universal Cough Mixture which you left with me, is sold—and I have several applications for more. As far as heard from, all have been perfectly satisfied with the medicine. One man, who had a cough of long standing, attended with tightness of the chest and shortness of breath, so that he was laid aside from business, purchased one large bottle, and before he had taken one third of it, was perfectly cured, and has had no cough since. He says it is the best medicine in the world, and cannot be recommended too highly.
JESSE HAYES.

From Mr. Fletcher Chick, agent for North Dixmont, Maine.
DEAR SIR—A number of the most extraordinary cures have been effected by your Universal Cough Mixture in this place. Several who had coughs of a year's standing, and others who have been doctored six months without receiving any benefit, have been speedily cured by the Universal Cough Mixture.

From Mrs. Hubbard, Thorndike, Me.
FEBRUARY 1, 1854.
To Rev. Walter Clark. Dear Sir—This certifies that I have used one bottle of your Universal Cough Mixture for a distressing cough and soreness in the lungs. I had previously taken several kinds of medicine, and had been under the care of several physicians, without obtaining the least relief; happily your Universal Cough Mixture was recommended to me. I procured a bottle, which I began to take according to directions on the label, by which in a few days I was entirely cured.
MARGARET F. HUBBARD.

Sold wholesale by the Proprietor, Cornishville, Maine.

General Agents for Maine—G. F. Sargent & Co., Druggists, No. 8 corner Smith's Block, Bangor—and H. H. Hay, Portland.

GREAT
American and Foreign Office,
—FOR—
Securing Patents for Inventions.
AGENCY FOR BUSINESS WITH THE U. S. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON.

R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State Street, opposite Kilby St., BOSTON.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS.—The subscriber, (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office under the Act of 1837,) determined to present advantages in applying for patents, superior to those offered inventors by others, has made arrangements, whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back, by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal, through him, within thirty days after the rejection.

This Agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions, unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to, any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber; and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate.—The immense practice of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries, prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Copies of the claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. Patents secured in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries, through agents of the highest respectability.
R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents,

TESTIMONIALS.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. EDDY, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office as Solicitor for procuring Patents. There were few, if any, persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office, and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

[From the present Commissioner.]
"AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq. of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the Office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.
CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.
